Synopsis and Introduction

Penang Island has been always facing shortage of land to build public infrastructure to cope with the rising populations. Recently, EcoLand Sdn Bhd has been appointed by the government to build an artificial island. As the news spread, the residents of Penang Island did not agree with the land reclamation as they were not consulted before implementation of the project. EcoLand Sdn Bhd decided to take in the public's voice and make amendments to the project strategy. The new project strategy proposed by EcoLand was approved by the DOE and the residents are satisfied with the new strategy. When the artificial island were finally constructed, the island received a lot of attention from the public. This is because the artificial island was constructed with minimal impact to the existing environment. The affordable houses constructed on the artificial island were sold out very quickly due to the good reputation and effort of EcoLand Sdn Bhd as they kept listened to public comments and kept their promise.
